

abstract microphotography

Biography: The tiny bubbles of air trapped inside an ice cube first inspired Adam Saynuk to explore the smallest observable details of ordinary objects in 2004. Highlighting the many details of common objects which are easily missed, Adam's large prints of tiny things inspire viewers to a sense of wonder and discovery out of the mundane.

Artist: Adam Saynuk

Material: Photo print on archival paper, face mounted to thick plexiglass

Size: 30x45" up to 60x90" or more.

adam saynuk

Adam Saynuk
801 Madison St.
Hoboken, NJ 07030

646-416-3048
saynuk@mac.com

> morningmacro.studiosaynuk.com
> studiosaynuk.com